

PO Coaching & Interim Leadership

In this service, you immediately start building strong product leadership without slowing down your delivery. We combine hands-on Product Owner coaching with interim product leadership, fully embedded in your organization. No abstract training, but guidance while the work continues—so progress and growth go hand in hand.

Our approach

We stabilize your product organization

We temporarily take on the PO role or act as Product Lead, guiding Product Owners during key decision moments. We improve prioritization, backlog quality, and product outcomes—accelerating delivery and leading to better decisions.

We lead and coach in day-to-day work

We bring clarity to roles, decision-making, and product direction. We assess Product Team maturity, priorities, and stakeholder dynamics, making risks and skill gaps visible. The result is control, focus, and stability within your product teams.

We transfer ownership in a sustainable way

We build product capability within your team through a phased handover aligned with the maturity of your Product Owners. Roles, responsibilities, and ways of working are clearly defined, ensuring the level is maintained even after we step away.

What this service delivers

- Stronger product outcomes
- More confident Product Owners
- Clear alignment between business and IT
- Less dependency on key individuals
- Sustainable growth in product capabilities

We work with a proven PO maturity framework, bring end-to-end product expertise, and apply a pragmatic approach tailored to your context. Helping you move faster today while building a stronger product organization for tomorrow. Read more >>

Wesley Connor

Lead Product Owner

 wconnor@product-league.com

 @WesleyConnor